Under pressure

The stock of innerwear major, Page Industries, the licensee for Jockey and Speedo in India, fell over 15 per cent in a week after the company reported a muted performance in the second quarter (July-September/Q2) of 2026-27. A weak near-term growth outlook and margin pressures also prompted brokerages to cut their earnings estimates. While volume growth was affected by the shift in the festival season to the third quarter (October-December/Q3), elevated input costs weighed on operating profitability in Q2. The stock's outlook will depend on the company's ability to deliver on its guidance of double-digit volume growth and an operating profit margin of 19-21 per cent for FY27. At the current price of ₹30,820 apiece, the stock is trading at 38-40x its estimated FY28 earnings.

The company's revenue growth improved to 11.5 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y) in Q2, compared with 8 per cent in the first quarter (April-June/Q1), but fell short of brokerage estimates of 16 per cent growth. Revenue growth was driven by volume growth of 5.5 per cent and realisation gains of 5.7 per cent. For the second consecutive quarter, volume growth was underwhelming, remaining in the mid-single digits. The company had delivered volume growth of 4.5 per cent in the first quarter (April-June/Q1), and there was no spillover benefit from unbilled Q1 sales to Q2, contrary to earlier expectations.

Although growth in July and August was strong, at 11-12 per cent — nearly twice the quarter's overall growth — sales in September declined as purchases linked to Puja, Diwali and ecommerce shifted to Q3. While volume growth for the first half of FY27 stood at 5.5 per cent, the company remains confident of delivering double-digit growth for the full year.

According to JM Financial Research, this guidance implies a steep 14 per cent Y-o-Y volume growth in the second half (H2). The management indicated growth to be driven by the shift in the festival calendar, festival-timed launches in men's and women's innerwear, and network additions weighted towards H2. The company's premiumisation drive is also continuing, supported by a rising share of outerwear, exclusive brand outlets, and online sales. Athleisure, outerwear, and women's innerwear are outgrowing men's innerwear.

Analysts Vaishnavi Mandhaniya and Anjali Ojha of JM Financial lowered their target valuation multiple to 40x (from 50x) September 2028 earnings to factor in the slower volume recovery and input cost pressures. The brokerage has downgraded the stock from "buy" to "add" and revised its target price to ₹34,390 from ₹45,341.

Profitability is another concern. Gross margin for the quarter declined by 272 basis points (bps) Y-o-Y to 57.2 per cent. A 2.5 per cent price increase was insufficient to offset higher raw material costs, with cotton and crude-linked input costs rising by 6-5-7 per cent Y-o-Y. Pricing actions and operational efficiencies helped the company improve its operating profit margin by 50 bps sequentially and limit the Y-o-Y decline to 81 bps, taking the margin to 20.8 per cent.

The management indicated that employee costs are likely to rise as the Odisha and Karnataka facilities ramp up, with manpower requirements expected to increase in H2. This could limit the scope for meaningful operating margin expansion in the near term, points out Systematix Research.

While the management remains confident of maintaining margins within its target range of 19-21 per cent, analysts Chetan Mahadik and Vijay Jangir of the brokerage believe that a sustained recovery towards earlier margin levels could take longer, particularly without a moderation in input costs or further price increases. Given the weaker-than-expected volume performance, limited near-term visibility on margin recovery and the relatively demanding growth trajectory required in H2, the analysts believe the near-term earnings outlook warrants caution. They maintain a "hold" rating while reducing their target price to ₹35,086 from ₹41,248.

YOUR MONEY

Lock in now or wait: What should your FD strategy be?

KARTHIK JEROME

Mrinal Kanti Roy, 56, a lawyer practising at the Jharkhand High Court in Ranchi, faces a dilemma. Since the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) raised the repo rate by 25 basis points to 5.50 per cent on October 7, a number of banks have hiked their fixed deposit (FD) rates. Roy is unsure whether to invest now or wait for rates to move higher.

Banks targeting specific tenures

Lenders are selectively raising FD rates to attract retail savings and meet credit demand. "Instead of broad-based hikes, they are launching special tenure schemes like 444-day, 555-day, and 777-day deposits to attract fresh retail deposits in specific maturity buckets," says Adhil Shetty, chief executive officer (CEO), BankBazaar.

Watch RBI policy, inflation, liquidity, money market rates and government bond yields for clues about which way interest rates are headed. "Any sustained acceleration in credit growth relative to deposits could increase competition for funds and influence deposit pricing," says Shetty.

Account for tax and inflation

A 7 per cent FD yields 4.9 per cent after tax for an investor in the 30 per cent bracket. Given the current 6.09 per cent inflation rate, such investors lose purchasing power. Investors in lower tax brackets and seniors, who are given a higher rate, fare better. It is advisable to use FDs to hold emergency funds and to meet one-to-three-year needs.

"For goals beyond five years, consider equities, which tend to beat inflation over the long term," says Abhishek Kumar, a Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi)-registered investment adviser and founder of SahajMoney.com.

Compare across fixed-income basket

Compare FDs with post office deposits, shorter duration debt funds, and bonds of a similar tenure. "Compare FDs with instruments offering similar safety, tenure, and liquidity," says Prashant Mishra, founder and CEO, Agnam Advisors.

"Choose FD tenures based on your financial goals, liquidity needs and the rates offered," says Santosh Agarwal, CEO, Paisabazaar.

Go for a longer tenure if you need a higher rate and an assured income. "Risk-averse seniors should lock into longer tenures, especially when interest rates appear to be near peak levels," says Arnav Pandya, founder, Moneyeduschool.

Stagger fresh money

Strike a balance between earning reasonable returns now and retaining the flexibility to benefit from rate increases. "Put about half of your fresh money into one- to two-year FDs now. Keep the rest in a sweep-in account and deploy it over the next two or three repo rate reviews," says Kumar.

Laddering FDs across different maturities helps avoid guessing whether the current interest rate is right, as returns get averaged out over a cycle. It also provides regular cash flows to those dependent on FD income.

Avoid hasty moves

The biggest mistake would be to lock money into a long-term FD after just one rate hike. "Make a long-term commitment only after rates are evidently near the peak," says Pandya.

Before switching from your current FD to a new one, compare the interest rates after factoring in the withdrawal penalty. "Continue existing FDs until maturity unless new rates are significantly higher," says Agarwal.

Look beyond headline rates

Assess a bank's financial strength. Small finance banks (SFBs) pay higher rates. "Their higher interest rates come with somewhat higher risk," says Mishra.

Deposit insurance and Credit Guarantee Corporation (DICGC) cover of ₹5 lakh per depositor per bank is available on SFB deposits. Mishra suggests allocating 20-25 per cent of the total FD portfolio across two or three SFBs.

Best rates available currently

Bank	Tenure	Interest rate (% p.a.)
DCB Bank	17 months to 20 months	7.75
SBM Bank India	Above 18 months to less than 2 years 3 days	7.65
Bandhan Bank	2 years to less than 3 years	7.45
City Union Bank	556 days to 3 years	7.30

Note: Highest slab rate for each bank, excluding small finance banks

Four free credit reports a year: Know the process and benefits

Borrowers can access four free full credit reports every calendar year without paying for a subscription. The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) requires each of the country's four credit information companies or bureaus to provide individuals with one free full credit report, including their credit score, between January and December every year.

The four credit bureaus are TransUnion CIBIL, Experian, Equifax, and CRIF High Mark. Borrowers can visit their websites, register using their personal details, complete identity verification and download their free reports.

What should you check?

Repayment history: Ensure payment of loan equated monthly instalment (EMIs) and credit card bills are correctly recorded as paid.

Outstanding loans: Verify active and closed loan accounts and outstanding balances.

Credit enquiries: Look for unfamiliar enquiries made by lenders.

Personal details: Check whether your name, address and other information are accurate.

Incorrect entries: Identify loans or credit cards that do not belong to you.
